

Sunday Afternoon,
August 6th 1841.

My dear Mr Grieg:

I do not know your Brother Edward Grieg's address. I must ask you please to tell him how glad I should be if he and his wife would spend some days with us while Miss Thorsby is here. I know he is not well, but he should have as quiet a time as he likes. Miss Thorsby and Mr Thorsson both know his compositions so well that it would give them the greatest pleasure to meet him.

Miss Munsby would enjoy so much the opportunity of studying his songs, and she knows that no one sings them so well as his wife. If your Brother does not read English, will you kindly give him my message in Norse? Miss Munsby will be here about the 10th and I shall be at Lyng until the 20th. Any time that your Brother would come we would love them and be glad to welcome them. I was disappointed in not-finding Mrs. Ed. Grieg at home when I called. I wanted to thank her and her husband personally for their great kindness the past year, which I shall never forget.

We shall certainly hope to see you and your wife here while Miss Marshy is in the west.

With warm regards to Mrs.
Grieg, believe me very sincerely,
Sara A. Bill.
