My dear Dr Grieg

I have read recently in some of the papers here that you are coming to London in the spring to conduct, or play, at one of the Philharmonic Society's Concerts. If this is a fact, as I hope it may be, I trust you will be willing to entertain an offer from me for eight or ten Concerts here, and in the provinces, on similar lines and conditions to those I had the pleasure of arranging with you on the

the occasion of your last visit to England (the Winter of 1897). April and May would be suitable months, and probably better for your health, which I remember was severely tried by the inclement Winter weather.

Hoping Madame Grieg and yourself are enjoying good health. With kind regards

I remain
Yours very truly
T. W. Vest
